“Kai Ehnes is a stalwart believer in the potential of his fellow human beings.”

Kai Ehnes was born in Germany and moved to America as a teenager. He attended Drexel University for Engineering and has a Master’s degree in Philosophy. His hobbies include horse training, music recording and being in nature.

For over 30 years, Kai has been an instructor and college professor of philosophy, psychology and economics. Through a partnership with Wake Forest University he created a new course in Alternative Energies and Biodiesel. He has trained in Sustainability (EFS) at the Cloud Institute (NYC) and Systems Thinking through the Waters Foundation. Kai owned a successful solar and alternative energy company.

As a thought leader, he enjoys inspiring other entrepreneurs through his public speaking and corporate counseling. As a public speaker, he has presented to numerous audiences and has been awarded the corporate speaker designation by the International Association of Corporate Speakers.

He is the CEO of Kai-Zen Consciousness and the Way of the Emotional Warrior. He is also an author and writes about optimizing your skills, actualizing your potential, breaking down the principles and laws into practical concepts and exercises. You might be familiar with his book Decoding TRUE Manhood.

Let Kai’s empowering message impact your next gathering.
